

I am a recent subscriber to XM radio, and that simple fact has made a huge difference in my daily commute. I live just south of Washington, DC and work 50 miles to the north. In an area with a transportation infrastructure as fragile as Washington, DC, where a simple rain shower can spell gridlock, the availability of CONTINUOUS traffic reports is invaluable. Today, my commute home took 2 1/2 hours. The availability of dedicated music and entertainment channels is also a God-send, making my daily commute much more pleasant and reducing roadrage to a tolerable level. Please support satellite radio for its contribution to our tens of thousands of commuters.
